War in Ukraine
An update on the impact of supply chains

Dear Business Partner,

After more than a year of war in Ukraine, our thoughts and sympathies are with all the people who have lost their roof over their heads - family, friends or a loved one in this terrible time of war.

We continue to monitor possible negative impacts on our international supply chain and procurement processes.

However, as at the beginning, our supply chains are not affected or our suppliers do not see any restrictions on procurement and processing in their operations.

We are aware that interrupted air/freight and transport connections or further trade sanctions can lead to delays in the short term.

We will, of course, inform you immediately and comprehensively of any foreseeable effects and identify strategic measures.
